

#2 Adventure Guide

You're about to start your adventure. Think about what you get when you go on an adventure. You get to experience new things and learn about a whole bunch of cool topics you might have never realized existed.

This adventure that you're about to begin is unlike anything you've done before.

You're going to chart your own course instead of being told where to go or what to do. You're going to learn about and experience the things that matter most to you. And, you're going to create awesome things that you can share with others and just might be able to make the world a better place too!

In order to begin your adventure, your first step is to get into the right mindset. You might be asking yourself, what's a mindset? Your Mindset is the way we see ourselves and the world.

Mindset: The way we see ourselves and the world

To be a great explorer, you will need a mindset that is creative, open, and positive. You are going to see the possibilities in the world and see and do things that you never knew were possible. These are exciting ideas! So to get into the explorer mindset, just know that you're creative and capable of doing new and great things because you are. You have no limits. You and your mind and go and do whatever you want and we will work together to make that happen!

Where will you go and what will you get?

The answer to where you will go is hard to give because I don't know and neither do you. Like I said, all great adventures have unknown destinations because you are going to create original and great things that come right from your own brain. But, I do know that your adventure is going to be amazing, meaningful, and fun.

You will earn adventure badges along your journey. These badges will be given to you when you accomplish goals and do great things. You'll be able to keep them, show them off, and explain to your friends and family what they mean.

So now that you know a bit more about what you're going to do and what you'll get, it's really time to get started. When you're ready, it's time to move to adventure one. Take that creative mindset with you to adventure one and let's have some fun!

begin.

